Naming of Buildings

The College Board recognizes the significance of naming facilities or the dedication of rooms or areas after people or organizations who have made substantial contributions to the College or the College Foundation. ~~The College Board will ask the College Foundation for a naming recommendations.~~

Although it is the final responsibility of the Board to name all College buildings, campuses and roads ~~which are acquired by the college or constructed with tax dollars or with funds that are donated or raised by the College Foundation,~~ the Board will actively solicit ideas and involvement from the College Foundation ~~with the intent of reaching a consensus on the best naming option.~~

The College Board delegates authority to the College Foundation to name major sections or wings of buildings, classrooms/labs, fields and public areas in recognition of outstanding contributions, in consultation with the College President and staff who work in facilities proposed for ~~funding~~ naming.
