Naming of Buildings

The College Board recognizes the significance of naming facilities or the dedication of rooms or areas after people or organizations who have made substantial contributions to the College or the College Foundation.

Although it is the final responsibility of the Board to name all College buildings, campuses and roads, the Board will actively solicit ideas and involvement from the College Foundation.

The College Board delegates authority to the College Foundation to name major sections or wings of buildings, classrooms/labs, fields and public areas in recognition of outstanding contributions, in consultation with the College President and staff who work in facilities proposed for naming.
