

June 16, 2020

COVID-19 update

Last week the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) and the Oregon Health Authority released guidelines for resuming in-person higher education activities. As of June 14, Clackamas Community College is allowed in-person instruction if we can meet the minimum COVID-19 public health standards.

Please know that we are not opening all our buildings and resuming all classes in person this summer or even this fall. The college's Returning to Campus Work Group is working on a plan to safely re-open in stages.

- Oregon Health Authority Guidance for the Conduct of In-Person Instructional, Residential, and Research Activities at Oregon Colleges and Universities

It is expected our plan will continue to evolve and change as our state's response to the pandemic changes. We are also working on a "Returning to Campus" webpage, which we will keep updated as we progress on our work.

Stay well and be safe.

Kind regards,

Dr. Tim Cook

President, Clackamas Community College