

Reporting a Sexual Assault

What if you do not want to proceed criminally? Please take the time to let Campus Safety or a college counselor know you have been a victim. Even if you do not want to prosecute, your willingness to let us know of your attack might help us prevent another person suffering the same terrible crime.

After reporting sexual assault, a student may request the following:

- ▶ Transfer to a different class section when available, without academic penalty.
- ▶ Consider possibility of incompletes or leave of absence.

Finally, remember that anyone, with any background, with any sexual preference, both women and men can be sexual victims.

Don't be a victim, take control of your situation, and stay safe!

Clackamas Community College Department of Campus Safety

Clackamas Community College is committed to creating and sustaining an environment in which students, faculty and staff can study and work in an atmosphere that is open, healthy and safe.

Consistent with this commitment and in keeping with federal and state law requirements, it is the policy of the college that sexual assault, sexual exploitation, and domestic violence will not be tolerated. Nonconsensual sexual conduct and other forms of sexual violence can be traumatizing and detrimental to a person's learning experience and overall health and has no place in our community.

Risk Reduction Strategies

The Department of Campus Safety wants you to be safe while on our campuses. Here are some tips on to help you be safe and avoid a sexual assault.

Psychological Prevention

- ▶ Trust your instincts. If you feel uncomfortable about a person or situation, remove yourself from the situation immediately.
- ▶ Learn to be assertive. Enforce your rights without violating the rights of others. Be assertive but not defensive. When you become defensive you become more vulnerable.
- ▶ Don't be predictable; remember that many sexual assaults are planned. If you must walk alone, walk a different route each time so that you don't have a fixed pattern.
- ▶ Don't be afraid to make a scene if you are confronted.

*Campus Safety is available for security escorts to vehicles or other campus locations.

What To Do

What if you are a victim of a sexual assault or domestic violence?

First and foremost, you are a victim of a violent crime.

As law enforcement officers, Campus Safety is trained to assist you. If you call Campus Safety, we can get you appropriate medical attention right away. While a medical examination will be needed to collect evidence to identify and convict the criminal who has attacked you, it will be done by a medical professional who is there to help you.

Campus Safety officers will make sure that an advocate is assigned to you, someone who understands what you are going through. The advocate will be there to listen, support and answer questions.

Campus Safety officers will work to capture the criminal who has hurt you. We will want to talk to you about the incident and gather as much evidence as we can. With this being a sensitive issue, as well as a violent crime, for your comfort, we have both male and female officers who can take your statement. By cooperating with the police, you are helping to prevent someone else from being a victim.
