Title IX Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct – 2nd Read	Chris Smith	The Title IX Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct policy is back for the second read. Format changes were made to help clarify the intent of the language. College employees are mandatory reporters, so you must report an alleged act of sexual harassment, discrimination or assault. Other concerns, please forward to Chris.
SISTERRS Project	BJ Nicoletti Stephen Brouwers Ryan Stewart Max Wedding	Since September 2016, SISTERRS has undertaken a broad range of projects centered on data quality improvement and the “front door” that students go through when they arrive at CCC to better serve them. By re-evaluating, developing, and implementing a clearer and consistent admissions process, CCC will be able to gather crucial data at the front door. By better understanding who our students are and what they are doing here, the services the College provides will not only be measurably improved, but will foster earlier connections between the student and CCC beyond an email or application. The team is looking for a new name for SISTERRS. Please forward your ideas for consideration.
ARC – 2nd Reads	John Ginsburg	ARC 600 Email Use Policy - This is back to College Council for the second read. It states that the Clackamas email is the official email that the college uses to communicate with students. Typically, procedures are not brought to College Council, but this one will be brought back to review email expectations. Expect to see the two separate procedures in the fall - one for staff and another for students. ARC 601 Expressive Conduct Policy – Suggestions were brought forward and added from the last College Council. Joanne suggested that with the recent changes that our legal counsel review this policy.
